ALL SING TOGETHER

Now there's nothing like a bowl or a bucket of the rare old mountain dew to inspire a good drinking song and here's one all about being grateful for good friends.

Here's a traditional Irish air about a shy man who feels fortunate to have everything he

DONALD, WHERE'S YOUR TROUSERS

This tune is about a Scotsman who prefers a kilt to trousers, no matter the stir it causes among the easily shocked ladies of polite society. They wear kilts in Ireland as well, of course, making this song a natural favorite in the pubs on the Emerald Isle as well.

=====Chorus

Let the [Gm] wind blow high, let the wind blow low [F] Through the streets in my kilt I'll go [Gm] All the lassies say "Hello. [F] Donald where's your [Gm] trousers?"

========

I've [Gm] just come down from the isle of Skye
I'm no [F] very big an' I'm awfully shy
The [Gm] lassies say as I go by
[F] "Donald where's your [Gm] trousers?" CHORUS

Now [Gm] once I went to a fancy ball
And [F] it was slippery in the hall
And [Gm] I was feared that I might fall
[F] For I had nae on me [Gm] trousers CHORUS

Well I [Gm] caught a cold and me nose was raw
I [F] had no handkerchief at all,
So I [Gm] hiked up my kilt and I gave 'er a blow,
[F] Now you can't do that with [Gm] trousers. CHORUS

Now [Gm] I went down to London town
To [F] have a little fun on the underground
The [Gm] ladies turned their heads around
[F] Saying "Donald where's your [Gm] trousers?" CHORUS

To [Gm] wear the kilt is my delight,
It [F] isn't wrong, I know it's right.
The [Gm] highlanders would get a fright
[F] If they saw me in me [Gm] trousers. CHORUS

JAR OF PORTER

NOT toora loora! 1st note low G ======CHORUS

[G] Toora loora loo rala, [D7] toora loora [G] loo rala Toora loora loo rala, give the [D7] child a jar of [G] porter

Guiness beer has been brewed in Dublin since 1759. The owner signed a 9,000-year lease at 45Pounds a year. The deed to the building and grounds is enshrined under thick glass in the floor of the brewery. I have heard some from Ireland attribute their lifelong good health to having been given Guinness beer since they were wee bairns. Here's a song full of advice good and bad - you decide which is which.

[G] If you want your child to grow, your [D7] child to grow, your [G] child to grow. [G] If you want your child to grow give [D7] him a jar of [G] porter.

[G] When I was young and cradle cake, No [D7] drop of milk now [G] would I take. Me father up and had his spake "Give the [D7] child a drop of [G] porter."

When [G] I am dead and in my grave, I [D7] hope for me a [G] prayer you'll say, And [G] if you're passing by that way You'll throw [D7] in a jar of [G] porter.

And [G] when I reach the golden gates, I [D7] hope I'll not have [G] long to wait, I'll [G] call Saint Peter aside and say I [D7] brought you a jar of [G] porter.

Lord Of The Dance: The Irish Rovers

This song was written by Englishman Sydney Carter, fairly recently - 1963, drawing inspiration for the tune, lyrics, and spirit of the song from the American Shaker religion and the life and teachings of Jesus Christ and the Hindu God Shiva. He had a statue of Shiva's dancing pose on his desk. "I didn't think the churches would like it at all," he later said. It's a sweet gospel tune that became quite popular.

THE ORANGE AND THE GREEN

about a man whose father was a Protestant ("Orange") and whose mother was a Catholic ("Green"). It describes the man's trials as the product of religious intermarriage and how he handled such an upbringing.

MODERATE SPEED

========CHORUS

Oh, it (A) is the biggest mixup that (E7) you have ever seen
Me (D) father he was (A) Orange and me (E7) mother she was (A) Green.

Oh, me (A) father was an Ulsterman, proud (E7) Protestant was he Me (D) mother was a (A) Catholic and from (E7) County Cork was (A) she. They were married in two churches and lived (E7) happily enough Un-(D)-til the day that (A) I was born and (E7) things got rather (A) tough. CHORUS

Bap-(A)-tized by Father Reilly I was (E7) rushed away by car
To be (D) made a little (A) Orangemen, me (E7) father's shining (A) star.
I was christened David Antony but (E7) still inspite of that
To me (D) father I was (A) William while me (E7) mother called me (A) Pat. CHORUS

With (A) mother every sunday to (E7) mass I'd proudly stoll
And (D) after that the (A) Orange Lord would (E7) try to save me (A) soul.
And both sides tried to claim me, but (E7) I was smart because
I'd (D) play the flute, I'd (A) play the harp de-(E7)-pending were I (A) was. CHORUS

And (A) when I'd sing those rebel songs much (E7) to me mother's joy Me (D) father would jump (A) up and say "Look (E7) here, now Bill me (A) boy! That's quite enough of that lot." He'd (E7) toss me o'er a coin He'd (D) have me sing The (A) Orange Flute or the (E7) Heroes of the (A) Boyne. CHORUS

One (A) day me Ma's relations came (E7) 'round to visit me.

Just (D) as my father's (A) kinfolk were (E7) sitting down to (A) tea.

We tried to smooth things over, but they (E7) all began to fight.

And (D) me, being strictly (A) neutral, sang to (E7) everyone's (A) delight. CHORUS

My (A) parents never could agree (E7) about my type of school.

My (D) learning was all (A) done at home, so (E7) I'm nobody's (A) fool.

They've both passed on, God rest 'em, but they (E7) left me caught between

That (D) awful colour (A) problem of the (E7) Orange and the (A) Green. CHORUS

The Parting Glass

was the most popular parting song in Scotland before Rober Burns wrote Auld Lang Syne. The parting glass was known as a "stirrup cup," one final drink to fortify a guest for their travels as they sat on their horse with their boots in their stirrups, ready to head onward. Traced to sometime in the 1600s.

THE RARE OLD MOUNTAIN DEW (IRISH)

CHORUS

Here's another "Irish" song with American roots. The tune is traditional Irish, but the words were written by New York musical theater composer Edward Harrigan (now there's a good Irish name for you!), for the play "The Blackbird," first producted in Dublin in 1882. The word "Poteen" is a phoenetic Irish word for mountain dew or moonshine. The word "gougers" means hard-drinking outlaws. Let's practice the tricky chorus — it's definitely one you'll want to sing before you've had too much of the rare old mountain dew.

STEWBALL

Dm Oh Stewball was a racehorse, and I wish he were mine. F G He never drank water, he always drank wine. Dm His bridle was silver, his mane it was gold. F G And the worth of his saddle has never been told. Dm Oh the fairgrounds were crowded, and Stewball was there F G But the betting was heavy on the bay and the mare. Dm And a-way up yonder, ahead of them all, F G Came a-prancing and a-dancing my noble Stewball. Dm I bet on the grey mare, I bet on the bay C F G If I'd have bet on old Stewball, I'd be a free man today. Dm Oh the hoot owl, she hollers, and the turtle dove moans. I'm a poor boy in trouble, I'm a long way from home. Dm Oh Stewball was a racehorse, and I wish he were mine. FC He never drank water, he always drank wine.

This tune has stong irish roots and, like most great legends, has many permutations. The version we'll be singing is the one I grew up with, sung by Peter, Paul & Mary. Stewball was a real horse, born in 1741. He won many races in England before being shipped to Ireland, where, by age eleven, he became the topearning runner in Ireland. In most versions of the song. Stewball is characteized the underdog who wins big. The song made it to the U.S. where it was reworked by all who sang it, from chain gangs to Leadbelly to Woody Guthrie — to Peter Paul & Mary. In this version, it's the narrator who is the underdog, and, unfortunately, remains the underdog.

[F] Earlye in the [Gm] morning!

Now here's a cautionary tale about what could befall you if you drink too much, leaving your fate in the hands of your more dubious companions. This is a sea chanty, a type of song written to provide rhythm for work on ships. This one was useful for when there was a long line of sailors hauling together, back in the days before so many tasks were mechanized. You can imagine that with all the barrels of wine and whiskey that traveled in the holds of these ships that there was more than a little carousing among the crew.

CHORUS

[Gm] Put him in a longboat till he's sober[F] Put him in a longboat till he's sober,[Gm] Put him in a longboat till he's sober,[F] Earlye in the [Gm] morning!

[Gm] Stick him in the scuppers with a hosepipe on him, [F] Stick him in the scuppers with a hosepipe on him, [Gm] Stick him in the scuppers with a hosepipe on him, [F] Earlye in the [Gm] morning! CHORUS

WHEN IRISH EYES ARE SMILING 1st note G@2

=======CHORUS

When [G] Irish [D7] eyes are [G] smiling [G7] Sure, 'tis [C] like the morn in [G] Spring In the [C] lilt of Irish [G] laughter [E7] You can [A7] hear^ the angels [D] sing [D7] When [G] Irish [D7] hearts are [G] happy [G7] All the [C] world-v seems bright and [G] gay And when [C] Irish eyes^ are [G] ^smiling [E7] Sure they [A7] steal your [D7] heart^ a-[G]-way

1st note A@2-v

[G] There's a tear in your eye

[G] And I'm wondering why

For [D7] it never-v should be there at [G] tall—

With [D7] such pow'r in your smile—

Sure a [G] stone you'd be-[E7]-^guile

So there's [A7] never a teardrop[^] should [D7] fall

When [G] your sweet lilting laughter's

[G] Like some fairy song

And your [D7] eyes twinkle [G7] bright as can [C] be^

You must [A7] laugh all the while

And all [D] other^ times smile

And now, [A7] smile-v a smile-^ for [D] me [D7] CHORUS

[G] For your smile is a part

Of the love in your heart

And [D7] it makes-v even sunshine more [G] bright

Like the [D7] linnet's sweet song—

Crooning [G] all-v the day [E7] long

Comes your [A7] laughter so tender and [D7] light

For [G] the springtime of life

[G] Is the sweetest of all

There is [D7] ne'er a real [G7] care nor re-[C]-gret^

And while [A7] springtime is ours

Throughout [D] all-^ of youth's hours

Let us [A7] smile-v each chance-^ we [D] get [D7] CHORUS

CHORUS

This is song of the British Isles; a Belfast musician adapted it from a Scottish tune.

the line, "Wild Mountain Thyme all around the bloomin heather" might refer to folklore, where the thyme plant was considered the playground of the fairys and often the herb would be left undisturbed for their use. Also, there was an old custom of young women wearing a sprig of thyme, mint or lavender to attract a suitor.
